NCUA to Launch Updated, Reorganized Website

May 18, 2009, Alexandria, Va. -- That National Credit Union Administration is debuting an enhanced, modernized website May 20, 2009, that will provide users with easier access to data and information.

Internet websites are a constant work in progress, and www.ncua.gov is evolving with the agency. While site content is primarily unchanged, a new format provides for future information and is designed with issues and initiatives presented in an organized, efficient manner. A new 'Help Page' was added to assist new and current users find information on the revamped site.

The reorganized Homepage includes a prominent gray bar across the top with drop down menus that contain most of the information available on the website. Two rows of blue rectangular buttons contain programs of significant importance. The center of the Homepage contains Latest Headlines, which link to the latest NCUA actions and is updated daily. The right-hand column contains Share Insurance Information, Agency Alerts and Consumer Information,

Upcoming Events and Highlights. Content will change as emergency information such as Hurricane response or Terrorism Alerts are posted.

The National Credit Union Administration (NCUA) is the independent federal agency that charters and supervises federal credit unions. NCUA, with the backing of the full faith and credit of the U.S. government, operates the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund (NCUSIF), insuring the deposits of nearly 90 million account holders in all federal credit unions and the vast majority of state-chartered credit unions. NCUA is funded by credit unions, not tax dollars.
