Deborah Matz Sworn-in as NCUA Chairman

August 24, 2009, Alexandria, Va. – Deborah Matz today became Chairman of the National Credit Union Administration. Matz was nominated by President Obama in May and was sworn in by NCUA General Counsel Robert Fenner during a private ceremony at the Agency’s offices in Alexandria, VA. Matz was joined by her husband, Marshall, and Agency staff.

“The opportunity to serve as Chairman of the National Credit Union Administration is both an honor and a significant responsibility. I am assuming the Chairmanship at a particularly crucial period in the history of the Agency and the industry, and the prospect of making a real difference in light of the challenges we face is one that I welcome. I look forward to working with my fellow Board Members, NCUA staff and the industry to find common ground, and common sense solutions to the issues that lie ahead,” stated Chairman Matz.

The National Credit Union Administration is the independent federal agency that charters and supervises federal credit unions. NCUA, with the backing of the full faith and credit of the U.S. government, operates the National Credit Union Share Insurance Fund (NCUSIF), insuring the savings of nearly 87 million account holders, with total assets of over $800 billion, in all federal credit unions and many state-chartered credit unions.
