Individual Development Accounts (IDAs) are special savings accounts designed to assist people of modest means on their path toward asset ownership through incentive matches and financial education. IDAs reward the monthly savings of people who are trying to buy their first home, pay for college, or start or expand a small business. Alternatives offer several IDA programs as part of the Credit Path® model to help members progress towards financial self-sufficiency. Alternatives' IDA program has succeeded in large part due to solid partnerships with community organizations. It has partnered with local organizations such as the Ithaca Housing Authority and Tompkins Community Action to provide IDA

The Credit Union Connection MEMBER SERVICES

The credit union is a full service family financial institution that offers financial products to individuals of all ages. In 1995 the credit union developed a senior citizen program for its members, called the Members' Choice Club. The credit union offers a package of benefits for Club members over the age of 50, who maintain $1,000 in savings or checking, or $5,000 in Certificates of Deposit. The package of benefits includes two boxes per year of free check blanks, up to 0.25 percent bonus basis point on new money in a 12 month or longer CD, free automatic bill paying service, a special gift for a new grandchild, and monthly events specifically for club members. Monthly events such as bingo, card marathons, movies, workshops, and motor coach tours are planned each year. The credit union's senior members enjoy the variety of activities offered and refer their friends and family to join. The Members' Choice Club has approximately 2,600 members.

The credit union has had a branch at Brockton High School since 1984. The branch in the school is a full service branch that is open to students, faculty and other employees of the school. The credit union branch is open during school hours and consists of a branch and two teller windows. The space for the branch is provided free of charge by the school. The credit union is responsible for all of the equipment installed in the branch.

The students are provided the opportunity to work at the credit union and gain high school credit. The banking program is an elective course for seniors. The high school recruits through the Business Department. Students attend a presentation about the program and can complete an application that is reviewed by the teacher and the guidance counselors. Twelve students are selected for the program each semester.

There are two parts to receiving credit for this class. One segment is the classroom portion that is taught by high school business teacher. The other part is working at the credit union. The students are trained at the high school branch and are supervised by two trainers. The students learn how to greet customers, present a professional image, and transact business for customers. The students get to see all operational aspects of running a branch. Students have the opportunity to apply for permanent positions with the credit union at the end of the semester.

Credit unions in McKean County (Pennsylvania) have had a long history of cooperation. The McKean County Credit Union Partnership was formed in January 2007, with the six credit unions agreeing to work cooperatively to promote credit union awareness and encourage members of the community to take advantage of the financial services offered by credit unions. The board of directors of each credit union adopted a formal resolution to express their commitment to the program.

In support of their efforts, the partnership members applied for, and received nine separate grants from both the Pennsylvania Credit Union Foundation and NCUA's Community Development Revolving Loan Fund program. The credit unions pooled the funds. These funds covered the costs of the development of a website, the first year of website hosting, and a marketing campaign that includes a series of newspaper articles, a newspaper insert, and registration costs for a number of community events. Ongoing website hosting cost will be shared, also.

The shared website platform was launched in October 2007. Consisting of seven "child portals," it has the appearance of seven individual and uniquely formatted websites, each with its own domain name. The Partnership site has a "locator page" that lists the Select Employee Groups served by the partnership members. By clicking on an employee group, visitors at the site are linked directly to the "website" for the applicable credit union serving that group.

Prior to this project, only one of the partnership members had a website. This was the first time the other five partnership members have had a website. You are invited to visit each of the "child portals" at the following web addresses:

In 2003, the Two Rivers School District entered into a unique school-business partnership with Shoreline Credit Union and RiverWood-Maritime Credit Union. The partnership led to the establishment of a student credit union in conjunction with the opening of a new high school. The operation provides a forum for financial literacy education and real life business experience.

The TRHS Student Credit Union is run by students. Students designed the logo, manage the operation via a Student Board [of Directors] and are responsible for marketing. The sponsoring credit unions provide support and employ two (2) students each. They run the student credit union as well as work at the respective credit unions' other facilities.

Students, faculty, and staff can cash checks, deposit money, withdraw money, transfer funds, make loan payments on existing or new accounts, and process real time transactions via electronic connections to the sponsoring credit unions.

The credit union recently began an incentive program to update its member records. When a member comes into a branch, a member services representative (MSR) will verify his or her address, telephone number, and place of employment, and enters the information into the credit union's database. The credit union does not allow foreign wire transfers or photocopies of identification attached to its membership application. The MSR earns credit for each member they update. Through verification and updating its database, the credit union is able to get a more complete profile of its membership.

Royal Credit Union (RCU) currently has eight school sites in elementary schools. Each site operates one day per week, at a time that is convenient for the school, and is usually open for about an hour and a half each week. The RCU School Site Program is not only beneficial for those students “hired” to work at the school site, but it can benefit every child in the school. For those students the credit union hires, they go through the same process as any employee would at RCU. Students complete job applications, go through an interview, and finally receive training through the training department at the credit union. This is truly an authentic learning experience for the students. At the end of the year, students receive performance reviews and have a pizza party. For the other students in the school, they have the opportunity to bring their money to the school site on a weekly basis. To help reward their ability to save, the students get to pick from a variety of prizes for every fourth deposit made. As an incentive to the schools to become involved, the credit union gives the school $250 for every 500 deposits made by faculty and staff in the school. One of the schools in the program received $1,000 during the 2005-2006 school year.

RCU currently has two school sites located in high schools. Each high school serves over 1,800 students. The offices are open each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday during the lunch hours, or typically one and a half hours. Employees in each high school site do basic teller transaction, such as deposits, withdrawals, and loan payments. They can basically do any transaction done at any other RCU office other than traveler’s checks and money orders. Membership drives are also held throughout the year where students can open new accounts right at the office. Each school site hires five students that are either in the Business or Financial Youth Apprenticeship Program through the school. Once hired, students receive the same teller training as any other RCU employee. They are also required to observe in an RCU office for about two weeks before they work at the school. They also work at various RCU locations throughout the school year.

The credit union's Member Rewards program offers members the opportunity to earn points for everyday purchases. These points can be redeemed for a variety of gift cards or merchandise. Member Checking Rewards provides members with one point for every $2 in purchases made with their Member Checking Rewards Debit MasterCard®. There is a monthly fee of $1.50 for this account. The Member Credit Rewards Gold MasterCard® provides members with one point for every $1 purchase made with their Gold MasterCard®. There is an annual fee of $49.00, which is waived the first year. Members from both programs share the same Reward Catalog. Travel rewards have no blackout dates or travel restrictions. Points are valid three years from the date earned.

The credit union's Member Contact Center (MCC) puts members in touch with their finances at Security Service – no matter where in the world they happen to be. Members across the U.S. and Canada can call toll-free to use the MCC to talk with an account representative about their accounts. The credit union also offers overseas toll-free numbers from Germany, Japan, South Korea and the United Kingdom. Members can talk to a representative 24 hours a day, 7 days a week in English or Spanish. MCC representatives can help members with any credit union related question providing support and assistance to members that utilize Security Service's electronic service delivery channels that include live web chat, the CompuBranch® Internet banking application, and Electronic BillPay Services.

The credit union has two Mobile Branch Units. One is designed for full member service operation and the other provides an ATM platform. Both units are equipped with ATM machines, making them ideal for providing ATM service at select employee groups, field of membership drives and local special events and festivals. The larger unit is equipped with two member service desks that are utilized to open accounts, accept loan applications, and other transactions normally conducted at a traditional service center. The mobile units provide service to underserved communities in the credit union's field of membership. Transactions are processed in real-time, via telephone lines. The mobile units are staffed with Member Service employees and an armed security guard. The unique graphics on the mobile units provide easy recognition by the credit union members and serve as rolling billboards to the general public.

The credit union offers seminars to teens and two student-run service centers to help youths develop financial responsibility and an understanding of basic financial concepts.

The Southbridge High School Branch of the credit union was established in 1988. The purpose of the branch is to provide an opportunity for students to learn banking practices, recordkeeping, consumer relations, and personal money management while earning academic credit. Emphasis is placed on learning general work ethics, professionalism, confidentiality, and adhering to policies and procedures.

Under the direction of the Training Supervisor, student tellers process transactions for both students and staff of the high school. Two students staff the branch each class period and on average the branch processes 10 thousand transactions each school year. Several students have worked for the credit union as part-time employees while still in school and some have become full-time employees after graduation.

“Start Right for Seniors” is an ongoing promotion that rewards seniors with a $25 gas card when they open a savings, open a checking account, sign up for a debit card, telephone banking and online banking.

branch. Each school's credit union branch keeps different hours, with the majority of them taking deposits twice a month. When a deposit is made, the child is given a receipt and a new deposit envelope as well as a small gift (such as a pencil or eraser) to keep them excited about depositing money. The students are savers only and the credit union does not make loans to them.

The relatively small financial investment the credit union makes to fund this program is well worth it. The program provides valuable education to the students by teaching them how to save money. The credit union pays for all printed materials, such as deposit slips, envelopes, and receipts. It also publishes a newsletter three times a year that is distributed to every child in the school to keep the program fresh in the kids' minds as well as with the parents.

A number of parents have opened accounts and become active credit union members because of the school program. This program has opened doors to many people who hadn't known they could join the credit union or had not been aware of TEG Federal Credit Union.
