General Guidelines for Technical Assistance for Credit Unions

Urgent Needs - 2011

1. What is the Purpose of the Community Development Revolving Loan Fund?

The National Credit Union Administration's (NCUA's) Community Development Revolving Loan Fund (CDRLF) was established by Congress to support credit unions that serve low-income communities by making loans and TAGs available to qualifying institutions. Low-interest loans/deposits are made available to low-income designated credit unions to enhance their financial capacity to, in turn, extend financial services to their members.

Congress appropriates funds to the CDRLF for loans and/or grants. The interest earned on loans is also available as a source of additional funds retained by the program for grant purposes.

2. What is the objective of Technical Assistance Grants?

The objective, or desired outcome, of technical assistance grants is to help low-income credit unions provide financial services to their members and to make the operations of those credit unions more efficient.

3. Which credit unions are eligible to apply?

To participate in the Program, a federally chartered credit union must be currently designated as a "low-income" credit union as set forth in NCUA's Rules and Regulations, Section 701.34. A state chartered credit union must have the equivalent low-income designation from its respective state supervisory authority (SSA) and concurrence from NCUA.

In addition, based on an Office of Management and Budget (OMB) policy directive effective October 31, 2003, credit unions must have a Dun and Bradstreet Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number in order to be eligible to receive funding from the CDRLF. As of this printing, a DUNS number may be obtained by calling Dun and Bradstreet, toll-free, at 1-866-705-5711. Credit unions may also visit the Dun and Bradstreet website, <http://fedgov.dnb.com/webform>.

4. What is the Urgent Needs Initiative?

The urgent needs initiative is provided to ensure the continued operations of a credit union with an immediate and pressing need to address for financial or operational issues.

Urgent needs are those items or incidents that result in sudden unplanned or unexpected costs to the credit union which, if left unaddressed, will result in a disruption of existing services to members.

In its application, the credit union must demonstrate that (1) the item requested represents a sudden unplanned or unexpected cost to the credit union and that (2) failing to implement the project, undertake the activity, or purchase the item, would likely disrupt existing services to members.

The use for the funds described in this application would typically not fit under another technical assistance initiative. The primary purpose of a request for a urgent needs funds must remain consistent with the overall purpose and intent of the CDRLF program.

Examples of urgent needs might include, but not necessarily be limited to, the following:

- Repairing damage to the credit union's premises that is not covered by insurance;
- Replacing equipment needed to immediately restore services to members as the result of an unplanned event;
- Paying consultant fees for records reconstruction; and,
- Conversion of data servicer following an event such as vendor bankruptcy.

The following examples are not considered urgent needs:

- Replacing obsolete or outdated equipment; replacement can be planned in advance.
- Training expenses which can be requested under other CDRLF initiatives.
- Monies needed to implement or complete a project partially funded by another grant.
- Vendors' price increases, although unexpected, are not urgent needs. They are regular operating expenses.
- Funding for salaries, annual audits, and other operating costs are not considered urgent needs; these expenses are regular operating expenses.
- Addressing items of supervisory concern (such as those items recommended in the Document of Resolution) are typically not urgent needs.
- That the credit union is small or unprofitable is not considered an urgent need.

5. How much money is available?

Urgent Needs grants are funded from CDRLF earnings. The amount of money available for grants depends on the income generated from the investment and loan portfolios. OSCUI may deny grant applications if no money is available.

The maximum grant amount is $7,500. In general, Urgent Needs grants are limited to one grant per credit union per year.

6. What are allowable uses of grant funds?

Urgent needs applications are unique to each credit union.

All approved costs will be detailed in the credit union's grant award letter.

7. How does the grant payment process work?

- First, credit unions must apply for technical assistance before making any expenditure.
- After receiving an approval letter, the credit union may purchase the goods or spend the funds, up to the amount approved.
- After making the expenditure, the credit union must then submit copies of receipts and proof of payment to NCUA for reimbursement. Credit unions should submit all receipts for a single grant commitment number to OSCUI at one time.
- NCUA will review the receipts and process electronic reimbursement for approved expenditures.
- All requests for reimbursement must be received before the end of the commitment period listed in the grant award letter.
- OSCUI will not process incomplete applications. Credit unions may resubmit a grant application, provided the submission deadline has not passed and grant monies have not expired.
- Credit unions must also send a summary of the technical assistance outcome to OSCUI. Credit unions failing to submit the summary may be ineligible for future technical assistance awards.

8. How are technical assistance applications evaluated?

Subject to funds availability, technical assistance is awarded after careful consideration of the merits of an application. Applications will be considered based on the financial and non-financial factors listed below, as appropriate.

Financial factors include, but are not necessarily limited to, the following:

NCUA CAMEL* Rating
Net Worth Ratio
Delinquency Ratio
Return on Assets Ratio.

Financial factors are used to determine the overall financial condition of the credit union and its ability to carry out the project as described in the grant application.

Non-Financial factors include the following:

Assessment of Management is a determination of whether credit union management has been responsive in addressing concerns cited in examination reports and whether management has the ability to carry out the project described in the grant application.

Purpose is a determination of whether the outcome of the project, as described in the grant application, is consistent with the purpose of the CDRLF as described in Section 705.10 of the NCUA's Rules and Regulations. The purpose would be: (1) providing basic financial and related services to residents in their communities; and (2) improving the operations of the credit union. OSCUI will deny grant applications in which the purpose of the grant is inconsistent with the purpose of the CDRLF.

Assessment of Impact is a determination of the scope and reach of the proposed use of the grant funds. Grant applications with projects having an impact on the community as whole will receive more favorable consideration.

Previous Funding is a determination of whether the credit union has received previous CDRLF grant funding. Section 705.2(b) of NCUA's Rules and Regulations states that the purpose of the CDRLF is to gain maximum economic impact on as many participating credit unions as possible. Therefore, credit unions which have NOT received funding in the past will receive priority consideration.

Partnerships is a determination of whether the credit union has developed other partner relationships and has considered other sources of grant funds. Under this grant initiative, a credit union with a viable partner relationship will receive more favorable consideration.

Leverage is a determination of the degree to which the credit union has acquired resources other than NCUA grants. Leverage measures the total cost of the project compared with the total grant dollars requested from NCUA. If, for example, a project costs $5,000 and the credit union requests $5,000 from NCUA, that project's leverage ratio is 1-to-1. If, for example, a project costs $20,000 and the credit union requests a $5,000 grant from NCUA, that project has a 4-to-1 leverage ratio. Projects with a higher leverage ratio will receive more favorable consideration.

For those technical assistance application submitted as an Urgent Needs requests, OSCUI will determine the appropriateness of the request, basing its decision primarily on whether the request meets the criteria of "Urgency" below, in addition to financial and non-financial factors.

Urgency is defined as a circumstance where a credit union has a compelling need for immediate action or attention and where receipt of a grant is expected to mitigate the urgency. For a technical assistance request to meet the criterion of an Urgent Need, the credit union must definitively show, in its application, that the item or incident resulted in a sudden unplanned, unexpected cost to the credit union that is likely to disrupt existing services to members. The purpose of an urgent needs request must remain consistent with the purpose of the CDRLF.

9. Is there anything that would cause an application to be immediately denied?

Yes.

(a) Technical assistance from the CDRLF is reimbursable. Credit unions applying for technical assistance must obtain approval of the proposed expenditures before making those expenditures. Therefore, the OSCUI will not fund any grant where the credit union has committed to, procured, or purchased the good or service in advance of grant approval.

(b) Technical assistance is not provided for recurring operational expenses such as salaries, rent, maintenance agreements, annual audits, funding for the allowance for loan losses, or office supplies.

Salaries to employees are not reimbursable under any CDRLF initiative. Generally, an individual is considered an employee if the credit union withholds income taxes, withholds and pays Social Security and Medicare taxes, and pays unemployment tax on wages paid.

Expenses for contractors invoiced to and paid by the credit unions may be reimbursable under certain grant initiatives. In general, the credit union would not withhold or pay any taxes on payments to independent contractors.

(c) Credit unions may not use technical assistance monies to provide funds to members, such as funding the matching portion of an IDA program or providing gift cards to members.

(d) Credit unions failing to submit summaries for technical assistance previously awarded may be ineligible to receive additional funds.

(e) Technical assistance may not be used to reimburse NCUA, or any government agency, for any activity.

10. Are there restrictions or limits on what will be reimbursed?

Yes.

The following restrictions apply to reimbursements under CDRLF grant initiatives. The list highlights the more common restrictions.

Equipment Purchase and Installation:

Annual maintenance fees and insurance costs are not reimbursable.

Marketing:

Marketing and advertising for the general promotion of the credit union will not be reimbursed.

Mileage:

Reimbursement requests for mileage must include receipts and the starting point, the destination, and the number of trips. Mileage is reimbursable at a rate not to exceed the current IRS standard mileage rate per mile.

Postage:

To be reimbursed, the credit union must supply receipts and supporting documentation, such as the number of mailings.

Printing/Copying:

To be reimbursed, the credit union must supply receipts and supporting documentation, such as the number of copies made.

Promotional Items:

Promotional items such as gifts, giveaways, souvenirs, or gift cards are not reimbursable.

Regular Expenses/Pro-Rated Expenses:

Regular expenses of the credit union, such as rent, utilities, and depreciation are not reimbursable under this grant initiative. "Pro-rated" expenses of the credit union, such as a portion of telephone or utility costs, are not reimbursable. These expenses are considered regular operating expenses.

Salaries/Contractors:

Salaries to employees are not reimbursable under any CDRLF grant initiative. An individual is considered an employee if the credit union withholds income taxes, withholds and pays Social Security and Medicare taxes, and pays unemployment tax on wages paid. In general, the credit union would not withhold or pay any taxes on payments to independent contractors.

Travel/Lodging/Meals

Travel expenses, such as airfare for an on-site trainer, will be reimbursed at the lesser of actual costs or the US government General Services Administration (GSA) current year per diem rate. Travel expenses, such as hotel, food, and transportation (i.e. rental car or taxi) are typically non reimbursable expenses.

Undocumented Expenses:

To be reimbursed, credit unions must submit invoices with proof of payments that correspond to the items listed in the grant award letter. Examples of acceptable proof of payments include, but not limited to: copy of cancelled checks, credit card statements, or receipts. Requests for reimbursement that do not contain adequate documentation will not be reimbursed.

Partnership/Third Party/Vendor Relationship and Expenses:

Credit unions are required to follow the due diligence over Third party Service Provides as directed by NCUA Letter to Credit Unions 01-CU-20 and must submit a written agreement detailing the services/products with cost involved. Contractor fees that are not substantiated in writing in a partnership/contractor's agreement will not be reimbursed.

Invoices from outside parties must be billed to and paid by the credit union. Reimbursements will be made to credit unions only.

11. What are the application deadlines?

Application Close Date: December 31, 2011 or when funds are exhausted.

12. What information needs to be submitted with the grant application?

Credit unions must submit a completed Technical Assistance Grant Application either online or by paper. The application must include the signed application form, answers to all questions in the application, and copies of bids, estimates, prices, and other supporting information. The application or project questionnaire (online version) contains several questions regarding the proposed use of the technical assistance funds, which the credit union should answer in detail.

Incomplete grant applications will not be considered. Credit unions may resubmit a completed application provided the application acceptance period is still open, and funds are not exhausted.

13. How to submit an application?

To expedite the process and help NCUA's initiative to stay green, credit unions should apply through the NCUA's website online application at:

<http://www.ncua.gov/Resources/CreditUnionDevelopment/Finance.aspx>

All copies of bids, estimates, prices, and other supporting information along with your signed application need to be:

Emailed to: oscuiapps@ncua.gov or

Faxed to: (703) 519-4088.

Credit unions that are unable to fax or email applications should telephone the Office at (703) 518-6610.

14. When will credit unions know about grant awards?

Applications under this initiative are evaluated in the order they are received. Typically, OSCUI will notify credit union applicants of the grant awards within 15 business days of receiving their application.

15. What is the reporting requirement after receiving an award?

Credit unions receiving awards must provide a summary of the impact of the technical assistance funding to OSCUI as stated in the technical assistance application form. The time frame for submitting the summary will be stated in the award letter. The submission deadline allows reasonable time for the credit union to ascertain the benefits of the technical assistance.

The summary should discuss the overall project and how the funding enabled the credit union to accomplish its objective. Credit unions' success stories provide invaluable supporting information when OSCUI requests annual appropriations from Congress to replenish the grant and loan fund. Credit unions must specify the impact the grant funds have had on the credit union's delivery of service and the consequences upon the community the credit union serves.
