Re: Comments on Proposed Rule: PCA – Risk-Based Capital

Dear Mr. Poliquin:

I am writing on behalf of Elko Federal Credit Union, which serves Elko, Eureka and Lander Counties in Northeast Nevada. We have 13,300 Members and $138,000,000.00 in assets. Elko Federal Credit Union appreciates the opportunity to provide comments to the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA) on its proposed rule regarding Prompt Corrective Action – Risk-Based Capital.

My credit union generally supports risk-based capital principles. However, we feel strongly that the proposed rule, as currently drafted, will severely harm the credit union industry by creating a significant competitive disadvantage in the market place. We respectfully submit the following comments on the proposed rule.

Parity with Banks

Risk-based capital is appropriate, but the requirements for credit unions should not be more restrictive and punitive than they are for U.S. banks and any other financial institution in the world under the Basel III framework. This places credit unions at a competitive disadvantage and will result in a reduced ability for credit unions to serve their members and communities. The members of Elko Federal Credit Union receive from and depend on Elko Federal Credit Union to provide, competitively priced and necessary financial services and would suffer from any reduced ability the credit union would have to compete in the market place.

Individual Minimum Capital Requirements

The proposed rule gives NCUA authority to require even higher capital for individual credit unions. This highly subjective element should be stricken from the rule. If it is not eliminated, an independent third-party should be established to mediate any appeal between a credit union and the NCUA; the NCUA should not be the examiner, the regulator, and the “appealed to” entity.

NCUA is exceeding their authority

Congress never intended for NCUA to set up a risk-based capital standard for well-capitalized credit unions. The FCU Act directs NCUA to devise a risk-based requirement, but the risk-based component for the well-capitalized threshold can be no higher than the component for the adequately capitalized level. Under NCUA’s proposal, however, that is not what would happen. This goes against the current FCU Act and system of Prompt Corrective Action.

Serving the Financial Needs of Elko, Eureka and Lander Counties

In conclusion, we would support a sensible, lawful approach to risk-based capital requirements; however, this proposed rule will do more harm than good—creating a huge competitive disadvantage.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment and for considering our views on the proposed risk-based capital rule.

Sincerely,

E V "Kelly" Buckner
