Dear Secretary of the Board Poliquin,

It is common knowledge that credit unions played absolutely no part in the financial crisis of 2008. Despite this, new regulations from several different regulators have in practicality limited the ability of credit unions to serve their members. The National Credit Union Administration's proposal expanding the ability of credit unions to serve their members is one of the first steps taken by regulators which recognizes that credit unions are the solution, not the problem. Your proposal will benefit many consumers and expand their ability to receive the best possible products and services from their credit unions.

The NCUA's proposal is an important first step to improve the lives of many consumers. I appreciate your important work on behalf of credit union members, and all consumers, throughout the country.

As a member of two credit unions and two regular banks, the services offered by my credit unions are much more "in tune" with the local economy and needs. The rates are better and the customer service is excellent. Please support expanding Credit Union access for more middle class Americans. We don't want or need another bail out.

Sincerely,

Amberly Brown
