General

What is the CUSO Registry?
The CUSO Registry is a web-based system that credit union service organizations (CUSOs) will use to provide information directly to NCUA. In addition to general information like a CUSO’s legal name, address, and contact information, the system will allow CUSOs to provide:

- Information regarding ownership and subsidiaries
- Services offered by the CUSO, including basic financial information as applicable for specific services
- Credit union clients served by the CUSO

Why do CUSOs have to register with NCUA?
NCUA regulations require federally-insured credit unions to enter a written agreement with a CUSO before investing in or lending to the organization. See §712.3(d) of NCUA’s rules and regulations for more information. Changes to the regulation, which went into effect June 30, 2014, require the written agreement to include a provision that the CUSO will report certain financial and operational information to NCUA, and any state supervisory authority, as applicable.

How often do CUSOs have to report information?
NCUA regulations require CUSO reporting annually. The annual registration and reaffirmation window will remain open February to March each year. Newly formed CUSOs need to register online within 60 days of forming.
Am I required to use the CUSO Registry to submit my data to NCUA?

Yes. NCUA requires all CUSOs to submit data online.

What software do I need to use the CUSO Registry?

No special software is required. The CUSO Registry is a web-based application.

What internet browser is required to use the CUSO Registry?

The CUSO Registry supports the following browsers:

- Internet Explorer 11
- Firefox (version 24 and extended support release (ESR))
- Google Chrome (version 21 and later)
- Opera (version 15.0+ (Blink) and 12.0+ (Presto))
- Safari (version 6.0+)

Older versions of these browsers may work, although webpages may not display or operate as intended. This is particularly true of Internet Explorer (IE) 9. If you are using IE 9, please upgrade your browser for best results.

Who can see the information a CUSO provides in the CUSO Registry?

Users of the CUSO Registry will see different information depending on which of the following groups they belong to:

<table>

<th>Access to View</th>

The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA), as well as the applicable exemptions in NCUA’s FOIA regulation, apply to any information a CUSO submits to NCUA. CUSO submissions may contain or consist of trade secrets and privileged or confidential commercial or financial information that is subject to withholding under applicable FOIA exemptions.

NCUA also will not release confidential and nonpublic information reported by a CUSO that is contained in or related to examination, operating, or condition reports prepared by, on behalf of, or for the use of NCUA; this information will remain confidential and non-public under applicable FOIA exemptions. NCUA will share information as appropriate regarding CUSOs with those state supervisory authorities that have signed written information sharing agreements with the agency.

What if I am having a technical problem with the CUSO Registry?

Users can find support in the CUSO Registry User Manual and other quick guides. Additional technical support is available by phone at (800) 827-3255 or by email at csdesk@ncua.gov. The help desk is open from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. ET, Monday through Thursday, and 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Friday. The help desk is closed on federal holidays.

Who can I contact if I have a question about NCUA’s policy?

Please contact the CUSO Registry mailbox or the Office of Examination & Insurance at (703) 518-6360 if you have a policy question related to CUSOs or applicable rules and regulations.

User Accounts

Do I have to establish an account to enroll a CUSO?

Yes. Only authenticated users can enroll a CUSO in the system.

Do I have to create an administrator account? Who can I designate as an administrator?

Yes, CUSOs are required to create an administrator account. The initial user who enrolls a CUSO will automatically be designated as the primary administrator. NCUA recommends that you give administrator privileges to at least one more person in the CUSO for back-up purposes.

How do I set up other users for my CUSO?

Please refer to the CUSO Registry User Manual and related quick guides for information about setting up and managing additional system users.

How do I reset my password?

Users with administrator authority can reset passwords for their CUSO users. If an administrator has not assigned a back-up administrator, he or she must contact NCUA technical support to reset their own password.

Can I enroll and view multiple CUSOs under my account?

Yes. The system allows users with administrator privileges to add additional CUSOs to their account.
Screening Process

Why do I get a message that I don’t have to register as a CUSO?

If you see this message, it means the answers you provided to the screening questions indicate that your organization does not meet the regulatory definition of a CUSO. Only CUSOs are allowed to register in the CUSO Registry. If you believe you should register, please contact NCUA at CUSO Registry mailbox or the Office of Examination & Insurance at (703) 518-6360.

How should I answer the screening questions if my CUSO does not serve credit unions or their members directly?

If your CUSO is part of a holding company that primarily serves credit unions or credit union members, you should answer the third screening question, “Does your organization primarily serve credit unions or credit union members?” with a “Yes.” This will ensure that wholly owned CUSOs, including shell or holding companies, gain access to the registry.

What does “primarily serves” mean in the screening questions?

NCUA’s CUSO rule only permits a federally-insured credit union to invest in or loan to a CUSO if the CUSO primarily serves credit unions, its membership, or the membership of credit unions contracting with the CUSO. In addition, the CUSO must be engaged in activities and services related to the routine daily operations of credit unions.

The CUSO rule does not establish a bright-line definition of “primarily serves.” NCUA determines whether a CUSO complies with the customer base requirement on a case-by-case basis, using a totality of the circumstances test. For further information, refer to the NCUA legal opinion available online.

What is an EIN?

An EIN is the CUSO’s Employer Identification Number. EINs are issued by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). This may also be referred to as your TIN, or Taxpayer Identification Number. To find your EIN, refer to your IRS form SS-4.

What happens if the CUSO Registry doesn't recognize my EIN?

NCUA validates the identity of all CUSOs that register. If we don't already have your EIN on file, the system will ask the user to provide contact information for an owner credit union, a credit union state supervisory authority, or an owner CUSO that can confirm the identity of your organization. While you can continue entering information in the CUSO Registry, NCUA does not consider a CUSO registered until we confirm the identity of the organization. Once we complete this step, you'll receive an email that provides your permanent registry number.

Do I need to register with NCUA if I am a subsidiary of a CUSO?

A subsidiary of a CUSO that meets the definition of a CUSO is required to enroll in the registry. Refer to §712.11 of the NCUA rules and regulations if you have questions about CUSO subsidiaries.
What if a credit union has a loan outstanding or line of credit to my CUSO? Is that the same as a CUSO “owner?”

An outstanding loan to a CUSO does not signify “ownership.”

Why do I get an address verification error when I try to enter my address?

The system uses a database from the US Postal Service to verify the address. The address verification can fail because it was not entered exactly the way the Post Office has it on file. To check the address and verify that you have entered the correct information, use the United States Post Office online Find a Zip Code feature.

Completing Your Registration

Can I save my work and come back to complete it later?

Yes. Once you establish an account you can begin your registration, save your work, log off, and return later. You cannot submit your registration until you complete all required fields and correct any errors. As a security measure, the CUSO Registry auto-saves every ten minutes. We recommend you save frequently to ensure the most up-to-date information is retained.

What customers am I supposed to report?

You should only report customers that are federally-insured credit unions with whom the CUSO has a contractual relationship to provide services. Do not report other entities (businesses, individuals, etc.) that the CUSO serves.

What format should I use to upload/import my credit union customer list?

Please see the CUSO Registry User Manual and Using Schema quick guide for information about how to upload client lists. Please note, if you have a very large customer list, it may take the system a while to process the records.

What format should I use to upload/import my owner list?

Please see the CUSO Registry User Manual and Using Schema quick guide for information about how to upload owner lists. Please note, if you have a very large owner list, it may take the system a while to process the records.

If I have both regular and complex services, how do I complete the credit union customer list?

First, select all services your CUSO offers within the Services List. This will generate a table that contains the selected complex services in the Customer list. You should then enter your customer(s) and select the services they use in the table. You do not need to identify a specific service for customers that do not receive complex services.

How do I resolve a technical problem with the upload?

Please refer to the CUSO Registry User Manual and Using Schema quick guide to make sure your data is in the correct format and for a list of steps to follow. If you still have problems, please contact the technical support help desk at (800) 827-3255 or by email at csdesk@ncua.gov. The help desk is open from 7:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m. ET, Monday through Thursday, and 7:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. on Friday. The help desk is closed on federal holidays.

How often will I be required to upload my audited financial statements?
CUSOs will upload audited financial statements during the initial enrollment period and annually each following year during the renewal period (February 1 through March 31).

What if I don’t have a recent audited financial statement?
If you do not have an audited financial statement to upload at the time of submission, please check the appropriate box on the Financial Information page and provide an explanation. You can log back in to the system and upload audited financial statements once they are available.

How many financial statement files can I upload?
You can only upload only one PDF file that is no bigger than 15MB in size. The system will display the file you uploaded to the right of the upload button upon successful completion. If you inadvertently uploaded the wrong file, you can delete it by selecting the “x” beside the file. Alternatively, you can re-upload a new file as the system will automatically replace the one you previously uploaded. Please note that the system will rename your uploaded file to include your CUSO’s registry number and the effective date of your audit.

Should I enter any financial information if I have not yet received an audit?
Yes, you should input the financial information fields for your anticipated audit date. You may leave the auditor name field blank if you have not yet engaged an audit firm for the year.

I am a CUSO that is wholly-owned by a credit union and do not receive a separate opinion audit. Which financial statements do I upload?
A CUSO should only upload financial statements related to their operations. You should only upload the CUSO’s portion of the audited financial statements, and not the credit union’s consolidated financial statements.

What information do corporate CUSOs have to upload?
A corporate CUSO is defined as a CUSO that has at least a partial ownership by a corporate credit union. Refer to NCUA.gov for a complete list of corporate CUSO activities and required information.

How will I know if my CUSO registration was completed successfully?
You will receive an email indicating your registry information was successfully submitted. Your registration is not complete until all errors are cleared and you certify and submit the information.

Can I print or save a copy of what I submit in the CUSO Registry?
Currently, each page of the registry must be printed separately. You can, however, use the download function to export (see the Download CUSO Information quick guide) and save your CUSO’s record. You can also export and save customer lists and owner lists individually.
Amending Registry Information
Who can amend a CUSO’s registry information?

CUSO Registry users with “Administrator” or “Contributor” roles can amend their CUSO Registry information at any time. Individuals assigned the “Viewer” role cannot edit registry information.

How can I correct information previously submitted to the CUSO Registry?
You can make an amendment to a current filing at any time after your initial submission. Once the new filing period opens in February of each year, prior filings will be locked and cannot be changed.
